To Our Laundry Customers.

In behalf of our laundry we will adopt the following rule Feb. 1: On account of so many allowing their laundry bills to accumulate, we are forced to either adopt a cash system or the weekly system only, as the cash system would work hardships on those who always pay when bills are presented, we have decided to leave one bundle, but if bill is not paid when presented, the next bundle will be held for back bill and not delivered until paid in full.

Hook May Not Get Appointment.

Washington, Jan. 27.—It was reliably reported here today that President Taft, before considering any other candidates had offered to Secretary of State Knox an appointment to the supreme bench to succeed the late Justice Harlan.

Circuit Judge W. C. Hook still is supposed to be the leading candidate considered by the president at this time but the delay in announcing a choice has given rise to new rumors that Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel may finally be selected.

GOVERNOR WILL RENDER DECISION WHEN READY

Oklahoma City, Ok., Jan. 27.—That he has fully made up his mind with relation to the action he will take in the matter of the investigation of the state board of education, conducted before him in September, and that he will announce his findings as soon as conditions are such that the schools of the state will be in nowise affected, was the statement Friday of Governor Lee Cruce.

Governor Cruce has been asked many times when his decision will be made public, and he has been urged by editorial comment in the newspapers of the state and by personal letters to announce the result of the hearing he said Friday:

"I had my mind made up as to what course I should pursue when the investigation closed. To have announced my decision at that time would have thrown educational matters in this state into turmoil. On the one side were those engaged as active prosecutors, who were agitating the question from their point of view and who could see no other side; on the other hand were those who have an interest directly the opposite. I have looked at the question from both angles, and shall take both sides into consideration when I announce my decision. Not a living soul, with the exception of myself, knows what that decision will be. I want it, when it is made, to have no effect on the schools of the state."

"Until the interested parties on both sides cease their efforts to wring a decision from the governor and leave the question to me to be decided in my own way an din my own time, there will be no decision given."

Governor Cruce gave absolutely no intimation as to the nature of the decision he will render.

DISEASE CARRIER IS UNDER ARREST

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 26.—A verified case of "meningitis carrier" was discovered here today. Upon telegraphic request of Dr. Oscar Dowling of the Louisiana board of health to Dr. M. M. Carrick, its representative in Texas, a man who had gone to Ruston, La., and had returned here was arrested in Dallas Thursday forenoon. Dr. Dowling said that a case of meningitis had developed in a Ruston house where this man stopped. Upon examination here this man was found to be carrying meningitis germs in his nose and throat. What shall be done with him has been put up to Mayor Holland of Dallas. The name of the "carrier" was not made public.

"Voted that the right hand of fellowship be withdrawn from Clarence V. T. Richeson and that his name be dropped from the church roll of members."

COOK'S NORTH POLE SPEECH STIRS UP BEES

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 27.—While Dr. Frederick A. Cook was detailing at Union Tabernacle Wednesday evening the frigid terrors of his polar trip in search of the north pole, a swarm of bees that had taken refuge in the building from the recent cold weather and were thawed out by the heat made it hot for the audience.

Several people were stung by the bees, and even Dr. Cook would pause frequently to dig one out of his neck. The bees got thawed out just enough to drop among the audience and crawl about. Had they been slightly more revived there would have been a commotion sure enough. As it was Dr. Cook's lecture was not interfered with.

Macon, Georgia, has raised $70,000 for entertainment of the Confederate reunion in May, which is a goodly sum for a city of that size for such a purpose. The Macon reunion promises to be a memorable one.

SUPT. CHARLES WILL LEAVE

Division Superintendent of Red River
Division Will Leave Frisco.
Good Friend to Ada.

As announced some days ago, there will be a change in division superintendents on the Red River division of the Frisco February 1, S. H. Charles, who has held the position for the past two years having resigned.

The News, as well as the business public of Ada, keenly regrets to see Mr. Charles leave this division, for during his term of service his tact and fair dealing has made him many friends especially among the city officials and the business men who have had occasion to transact business through his department. To his judicious management must be credited the bringing about of most cordial relations between the road and the Ada public, all the sores made during the early struggles of the town having been healed over during the past two years and a better spirit prevailing than ever before. While at all times keenly alive to the interests of the railroad, Mr. Charles also recognized and respected the rights of the public, and usually succeeded in adjusting all differences speedily and to the satisfaction of all concerned. One of the largest shippers in Oklahoma, which is located on Mr. Charles' division, says of him that if all operating officials on railroads would take care of business as promptly as he does there would be a heavy decrease in the number of complaints against railroad companies.

During the service of the writer as secretary of the 25,000 club of Ada, he always had the hearty co-operation of Mr. Charles, who was ready at all times to extend any aid or courtesy that lay in his power.

It is not yet known who will succeed Mr. Charles, but the road will have a difficult time in finding a man who can hold the esteem of the public as well as he has.

RICHESON EXPELLED FROM TH EBAPTIST CHURCH

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 26.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is under sentence of death for the murder of his former sweetheart, Avis Linnell, was expelled tonight from the Baptist church. The action was taken at the regular monthly meeting of the Immanuel Baptist church of this city of which Richeson was pastor at the time of his arrest. The motion, which was carried unanimously, was put in this form.

"Voted that the right hand of fellowship be withdrawn from Clarence V. T. Richeson and that his name be dropped from the church roll of members."

State Enforcement Officer Caudill is in Ada on a tour of inspection. As none of the officers could be found at the hour of going to press, it is not known just how much was accomplished first and last in ferreting out and smashing unlawful medical preparations and the makings thereof.

Dr. Harry J. Bowles, a thorough dentist, graduate of the Dental Department Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa, has located in Ada with offices in the new Aldrich Bldg. Dr. Bowles comes to Ada with recommendations of which any gentleman should be proud. He in connection with Dr. Ross have a suite of three rooms in the above building, and so arranged and equipped that they will rank among the most complete offices in Oklahoma. Everything is new and of the most sanitary and should invite any one desiring first-class dental work. It will be remembered that Dr. Bowles recently moved here from Atoka, Okla., where he was located for the past six years.

YOU CAN HAVE HEALTHY HAIR

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, A Harmless Remedy That Makes the Hair Grow.

What a pity it is to observe so many people with thin and faded hair and then realize that the most of these people might have a fine, healthy head of hair if they would but use the simple "sage tea" of our grandmothers, combined with other ingredients for restoring and preserving the hair. No one, young or old, need have gray hair, weak, thin or falling hair, dandruff or any trouble of the sort if they would but use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. On the contrary, it is possible to have healthy, vigorous hair, of perfect color, by a few applications of this remarkable preparation.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, promotes the growth of the hair and restores the natural color of the hair which has become faded or gray. It is a clean, wholesome dressing, which may be used at any time and with perfect safety. Don't neglect your hair. Start today with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle. Special Agents, Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

Easing a Cough.

For children who have passed the baby stage, linseed tea is the best thing known to ease a cough. Pour two quarts of boiling water on one ounce of whole linseed and twelve drachms of licorice root sliced. Add to this a slice or two of lemon. Let this stand in a jug covered over for six or seven hours, then strain it and sweeten to taste and it will be ready for use.

The mail boxes for the free delivery service have arrived, and it is now up to those who wish to get the benefit of the service when it goes into effect March 1, to get busy and put up their boxes. Nineteen applicants recently took the examination for carrier, but the returns have not yet been received from the department, so that it is not yet known who will get the appointments.

is the only kind that goes into our carts. All is thoroughly screened before carted to our customers; so you see it pays to please the people. We sell you what you want, the finest coal at $5.50 per ton. It is not just as good as any other, but a little better than what is generally sold.

Remember if you get 1500 lbs. of lump coal and 500 lbs. of slack for a ton you have really only 1500 lbs. of coal as the slack is worthless to you. We would not let you have slack if you wanted it as we need it for our boilers, so be sure and get our prices before you buy.

NO FURTHER SIGN OF MENINGITIS

The week closes with no further reports of meningitis cases. As a very close watch has been kept by the physicians, it is certain that none has occurred or it would have been discovered and reported at once.

The people seem to have about recovered from their first scare, and unless more cases suddenly make their appearance, everything will be normal by next week.

As stated before, the town is far cleaner now than ever before in its history. Several car loads of rubbish has been gathered up and hauled to the dumping grounds, and lime and other disinfectants have been used freely, about the premises of many citizens, and the drug stores have done a land office building in atomizers and spraying preparations.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is known as Nature's Cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is prepared entirely from the blood purifying and healing extracts of roots, herbs and barks taken directly from the natural forests of the land. It does not contain the least particle of strong mineral ingredients, and is so prepared as to aid in the upbuilding of every portion of the system, while driving Contagious Blood Poison from the blood. No unpleasant effects ever follow the use of S. S. S., such as stomach troubles, dyspepsia, mercurial rheumatism, etc., as is so often the case where other medicines are used. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and gently but surely, drives out every trace of the disease, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and by its fine vegetable tonic effects, assists the system to rapidly overcome the ravages of the disease, and regain its natural healthful condition. S. S. S. does not cover up or hide the symptoms for awhile, to break out later, but so thoroughly does it remove the cause that no signs of the trouble ever return. S. S. S., Nature's cure, is the surest and safest remedy for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book with valuable suggestions and information, and any medical advice free to all who write.

LARGE CROWDS VISIT THE A & M AGRICULTURAL TRAIN

Wagoner, Ok., Jan. 27.—Passing from the almost exclusive corn and cotton territory situated along the Osage to Muskogee division of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, the farm demonstration train, operated co-operatively by the Katy line and the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College and the State Board of Agriculture, passed Friday afternoon into the rich valley of the Verdigris river and stopped at Wagoner, where both afternoon and night lectures were given.

The success of the train grows more marked as the days go by, the crowds growing larger all the time, and Friday a total of 4,000 people heard these lectures and witnessed the exhibitions. Situated in a rich farming territory, Wagoner is a prosperous city and surrounded by fairly prosperous farmers, which fact appeared in the appearance of the crowds which gathered at the station at night. The illustrated lectures were given in a hall packed to the doors, which has been the case at every night stop on the trip.

The day's work was opened at 8 o'clock Friday morning at Broken Arrow, Thursday, night, after a parade of 1,000 school children, led by the band of the Haskell School of Agriculture.

The lectures were delivered at the station and 700 farmers were in attendance. Improvement in the live stock industry in that region was especially urged, also the building of good roads. The county now has a bond issue of $30,000 with which to improve its roads.

Car of Booze Kept Moving.

Muskogee, Ok., Jan. 27.—That way-side car of booze, that will-o'-the-wisp car of liquid joy, that car-load of trouble-maker and trouble-destroyer, which has been chasing the rails for the past week or so between Joplin and Ft. Smith, via Muskogee and from Ft. Smith to Joplin, via Muskogee, is again on its way. It left Friday night for Rex, there to be shifted to the Iron Mountain.

At least, that is where it is said to have gone, and the bootleggers of the city are weeping large and copious tears this morning instead of quaffing large and copious draughts. But it may be back. Who knows? It is as elusive as the Irishman's lea and cavaorts from spot to spot. The police department just wouldn't let the boys get to it and a certain party is drinking his head off in freight bills. By the time it is really unloaded the whiskey will be sure enough aged in wood—freight car wood.

There is a story afloat that the police ahve been on a wild goose chase and that the car is an empty, having been unloaded and the contents planted some nights ago. "Don't you believe it," said one of the officers. "I was in that car last night and it contains 48 cases of Cedarbrook whiskey, 75 ten gallon kegs and 16 sixteen gallon keg of whiskey, and 30 barrels of beer or whiskey, I don't know which."

Social Obligations

Social Obligations

"Dear," said Mrs. Westcott dramatically to her husband as she took the newspaper out of his hands to compel him to give his undivided attention to her, "we've got to entertain! That's all there is to it!"

"Well, why have we?" demanded Westcott.

"Why, I'm simply ashamed to look our friends in the face, and actually the Ruggleses and the Squires will think we are stingy! They've lived here nearly a year and I've never even had a luncheon in all that time! Think of it! And I receive invitations almost every day! But there's one comfort—I don't go any more! So I really don't owe a lot of people more than the invitation myself."

Westcott listened helplessly, trying in vain to catch a glimpse of the headlines in the newspaper that his wife held. "Yes," he said, in a most desultory manner, feeling in duty bound to make some remark in the pause.

"Yes, that's it!" went on Mrs. Westcott. "We'll entertain! We'll do something big too! Come, help me plan!" She beamed on him as she threw the newspaper behind her, regardless of its landing on the floor.

"But," remonstrated her husband, weakly, "these big affairs are—are rather an expense, aren't they?"

"Oh, why didn't I think of it before?" Mrs. Westcott asked, ignoring his remark. "There, they've been gone only two months and I've owed them something so long! I could have had it a week, say after they sailed and—" She paused in rapt contemplation.

"Why, my dear," interposed Westcott, surprised by the peculiar trend of his wife's remarks. "You say you wish you could have given it a week after they sailed! I assume that you mean the Rankins. But why a week after they sailed? Why was that time any better than the present?"

"Why, you see," Mrs. Westcott gazed on him in pity for his lack of comprehension, "you see, I could have invited them!"

Westcott took a deep breath. He looked at his wife earnestly while his brain tried to fathom the mystery.

"You wanted to give it early so you could invite the Rankins to come to it a week after they sailed! Ah, yes!

"So clear—so—so—shall we call it lucid?"

"Oh, bother!" Mrs. Westcott impatiently exclaimed. "Why can't you understand things? I always have to explain everything to you! If I invited them then they'd owe me an invitation. I'd have paid what I owe them, but they couldn't come because they'd be sailing for Europe at the time."

Westcott eyed his wife in admiration. "Are you going to—to run the whole party on the same principle?" he queried, respectfully.

"Well, we'll issue about twice as many invitations as the house can hold," she explained, the fire of victory in her eyes. "There are the Browns. They're going to Florida this winter. I heard that they leave in about a week. That's five, for I'd have to have the girls, too." She looked at her husband exultantly.

"Oh, and there are the Warrens and the Smiths. They're going hunting together this fall somewhere up north and they'll be gone a month, I know! That's seven with Mr. Warren's sisters!" Westcott pulled out an envelope and put down the figures.

"Then there are the doctor and his mother. He told me the other day that she wasn't at all well and he thought he'd take a run out west to go with her to his sisters in California. I could invite them!"

"And there are the minister and his wife and his son and daughter," put in Westcott, with proper pride in his offering. "He's going to accept that church in Rochester. So we can invite them!"

Mrs. Westcott glanced at her husband to detect any fraud in his air of frankness, but he was adding the names to his list enthusiastically.

"There are twenty that can't come," he counted, finally.

Mrs. Westcott sighed a deep sigh of thanksgiving. "That's all right, then," she said. "Now, we'll just ask our own immediate friends to tea that night and have a good time. That'll be eight or ten altogether—and, thank goodness, most of my obligations will be paid!"

Then she handed his newspaper to him smilingly.

Sarcastic Man.

"Well," said the sarcastic man, as he walked out of the concert between numbers. "I'm ever so much obliged to the girl who sits in front of me. I don't know what her name is, but I'm obliged to her."

"You mean the one with the frightfully high coiffure?"

"That's the girl. And she's got a bow on top of that."

"I don't see what you're obliged to her for."

"For not carrying an umbrella."

His Nature.

"That informer is a pig!"

"Which explains how he came to squeal."

WADES IN THE OCEAN ON WAGER SHE MADE

OMAHA SOCIETY FAVORITE LOST HER TEETH AND GOT THOROUGH SOAKED.

Venice, Cal.—Mrs. Grace Harris is a large woman, attractive of face and figure, and one of Omaha's society favorites. The other day she made a bet that she would go wading above her knees in the Pacific. Seating herself confidently on the sand, she removed an expensive millinery creation and stripped off silk stockings and pumps regardless of an interested crowd.

Then she lifted her exquisitely tailored black gown, walked to the receding breakers and gingerly placed a pink toe into the water. Then followed the whole foot, both feet and the sur-

Wortham Boosts Ada.

Colonel E. F. Wortham, of Ada, Oklahoma, is stopping at the Metropolitan hotel. He is here on a pleasure trip, and is delighted with what he sees in Washington. Upon being seen by a reporter, the Colonel was very enthusiastic in his praise of his home city. "Ada, Oklahoma, where I live," said Colonel Wortham, "is one of the fastest growing towns in the state. It has a population of about seven thousand, is situated in the eastern part of Oklahoma. It is a beautiful city, has five good banks with plenty of money, several public schools, and boasts of having one of the best normal schools in the entire state. We have the finest water supply of any town in the state, having just completed the construction of a modern plant which brings the water in from the famous Byrd's Mill springs. The cement plant at Ada is one of the finest to be found anywhere, and Mr. Beck, its president, is a prince among gentlemen."

When asked about the political situation in the state, Col. Wortham stated that he was no politician but a close observer of the political horizon. "Speaker Champ Clark will carry the state for president," stated the Colonel. "By the way, I see that a certain gentleman in an interview published in a St. Louis paper a few days ago stated that he could and would deliver the electoral vote of Oklahoma to Speaker Clark. Now, while I am for Mr. Clark, and while my town and county is for Mr. Clark, and the whole state is for Mr. Clark, I wish to state that no individual can deliver the vote of Oklahoma for any particular man. Whoever receives the vote of the honest farmer and the good people of Oklahoma will receive it first hand and not through an intermediary. We are going to have pure politics in this growing state, and a movement is now on foot to organize the state for this purpose."

Col. Wortham's attention was invited to the senatorial situation in the state, and he stated that he was for Senator Owen's re-election. "Senator Owen is an honest man, a hard worker, and he represents the pure democracy of our great state," said the Colonel. "In my humble opinion, he will receive at least eighty per cent of the votes of the honest democrats of Oklahoma when the primary elections come off this fall." He believes that Charlie Carter will be returned to congress as a recognition of the faithful service he has rendered his constituency.—Washington Post.

In Memory of Jas. Norton.

January 22nd the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Norton and claimed for his own their eldest son, James Norton. Had he lived until the twenty-second of April he would have been twenty years of age. The writer has known the family for a number of years and I am glad to say that the young man was happily converted on his death bed.

His remains were laid to rest in the Rosedale Cemetery the following day attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

We command to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters the Great Comforter, who said I will not leave you comfortless; I will come to you. He saw a hand you could not see which beckoned him away.

He heard a voice you could not hear which would not let him stay. Another hand is beckoning us another call is given and glows once more with angel steps the path which reaches heaven. We loved him, yes, we loved him but the angels loved him more and they have sweetly called him to yonder shining shore the golden gates were opened a gentle voice said "come" and with farewell unspoken he calmly entered home.

Passenger on Frisco Commits Suicide.

Wednesday morning as No. 124 pulled out of Francis, a man who had boarded the train at the station suddenly disappeared. A careful search through the coaches failed to disclose any trace of him and when the train reached Spaulding it was stopped and a message sent to Sasakwa advising the agent to look for a body on the right of way.

Early in the morning the body of the missing man was found in the cut a short distance south of Sasakwa. He had evidently jumped from the train and met instant death on the rocky wall of the cut. About $200 in money and a ticket to Kansas City was found in the pockets, but nothing by which he could be identified. He had been seen in Francis on Tuesday and Sibley Norman, night clerk at the depot sold him the Kansas City ticket. He was a good looking, well dressed man, probably forty years of age. At this time nothing has been heard as to his identity and the remains will probably be interred at Sasakwa.—Francis Wigwam.

Gore Will Stump State for Wilson.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—Senator Gore expects to leave for Oklahoma next Saturday on a whirlwind campaign of the state in an effort to line up the democrats of the state for Woodrow Wilson for the presidency. The results of Senator Gore's trip will be watched with keen interest by politicians in Washington, which is now the political melting pot of the United States.
